COACH HIX DEPARTS

Hennessey head football coach/athletic director will be departing during spring break on his way to coach at Locust Grove, Oklahoma.

Hix told All About Hennessey, "There are a handful of reasons for my departure, some of them are more about what Locust Grove can offer, and some are more about what Hennessey can't/won't/ no longer offers."

Hix joined Hennessey in 2019 and brought the Eagles from 0-10 to 7-4 in his four-year tenure.

Hix said, "I'm proud of what we accomplished, the program is in good shape from top to bottom. We have built up the junior high program. It was a difficult decision because we had things clicking."

Most of my family is from that side of the state, so there are some family reasons for the move. We never intended or thought of Hennessey as a temporary stay.

OKLAHOMA'S LARGEST COWBOY HAT

Mark Henry and crew have been working on the giant hat for several months and it's getting close to completion. Henry said, "It should be ready to install in a few weeks." It's been a team effort, some of the crew include Jerry Mack, Cameron Bonham, Coye Riddle, Richard, and Jacob Robar.

Standing at 32 feet wide makes it the largest in Oklahoma. It is constructed of one 300-barrel, and two 250-barrel recycled crude oil tanks, and weighs 14,000 lbs. When done it will be installed on the south end of the new Howdy Travel Center and used to shade the dog park and picnic area.

Henry said, "We wanted to be the largest in the world but we just couldn't get there with the materials we had to work with." The largest is located in Oxbow Park in historic Georgetown, Seattle. It is 44 feet wide and stands next to a giant pair of cowboy boots.

FIRE & ICE

Some plumbers get worried when it gets cold and water starts spraying, but Not Hennessey plumber Boyd Poteet. The annual ice sculpture at Taggart's Garden Center started about 40 years ago in Boyd Poteet's front yard. The problem was Boyd lives out in the country and very few people got to see it. Boyd said, "I moved it to the Garden Center after my cousin Tim Taggart built there so more people could enjoy it." Last week's cold front made the perfect conditions for this year's display which is about 25 feet tall. Add an amazing sunset on Christmas evening and you get art.

SEN. DAHM FILES LEGISLATION TO PROTECT OKLAHOMANS ON ROADWAYS

OKLAHOMA CITY –Sen. Nathan Dahm, R-Broken Arrow, has filed three pieces of legislation to protect Oklahoma drivers from unnecessary headaches on the road.

Senate Bill 82 would prohibit law enforcement entities from requiring officers, justices, or judges to fulfill traffic citation quotas.

"At the end of each month, and especially nearing the end of the year, many Oklahomans are concerned about receiving a traffic ticket due to an arbitrary 'quota' that traffic officers are forced to meet," Dahm said. "This bill will ensure that law enforcement officers are free to protect and serve our communities instead of being pushed to bolster revenue."

SB 84 would prohibit the use of red light cameras, which take photos of vehicles that pass through intersections during a red light.

"Research indicates that in some cases accidents increased after red light cameras were installed," Dahm said. "In some instances, municipalities shortened the yellow light to increase the chance of catching someone on a red-light violation, thus increasing revenue. Such blatant disregard for public safety just to generate more revenue is unacceptable and should not be allowed in our state."

SB 83 would ban the detention, interdiction, or other disparate treatment of an individual solely on the basis that the person drives or rides on a motorcycle or wears motorcycle-related clothing or paraphernalia.

"Disparate treatment based on clothing or vehicle type doesn't make our roadways any safer," Dahm said. "Law enforcement must have a reasonable and articulable suspicion to justify a detention or investigatory stop of a motorcyclist."
