DEVASTATING HOUSE FIRE HISTORICAL SOCIETY BEGINS

Thursday morning, (March 9th) around 11 AM, the Hennessey Fire Department responded to a house fire at 6350 S. Mitchell Road, owned by Autumn and Tony Blackburn. Firefighters arrived to find the top story of the residence engulfed in flames.

Hennessey Fire requested help from Dover and they assisted with a water tanker and several firefighters. There is no fire hydrant in that mile section of S. Mitchell Rd so they were shuttling water from about a mile away.

There was no one home at the time of the fire and there were no injuries.

Tony Blackburn said, "I got a notification from my security system that the temperature in one of the bedrooms was 120 degrees." The cause of the fire is still under investigation but is thought to have started with wiring near the furnace near the center of the house.

The house is a total loss and they lost everything. If you would like to help you can make a tax-deductible donation at Community State Bank to the Community Action Team in the care of "The Blackburn's." Contact Jimmy Berkenbile with questions at 405-853-5071

Hennessey Fire was assisted by Hennessey Police, Dover Fire, Kingfisher County Emergency Management, and Kingfisher County Sheriff Dept. Fire crews left the premises at 4 PM.

The Library committee appointed by the Hennessey Board of Trustees last year held its last meeting Wednesday, March 8th, and took the first steps to form a Historical Society. Chairperson Jack Quirk started with, "We are here to talk about the actual building, not the library and museum that is in it. The building shell is sound, but the interworkings are fragile and need a great deal of work. The town does not have the means to make the repairs that are needed to keep it up." Quirk continued, "It is time to bring the committee to an end and pass the baton to the Historical Society to raise funds for the building."

The committee spent almost a year looking into what the old high school building needed to make it functional and safe. The choices ranged from tearing it down to a complete remodel. The architect that was hired to give an opinion on the structure concluded in their report that it has many, very expensive needs. The biggest issue is the roof. It has reached the end of its lifecycle and needs to be replaced. The gutters have broken off the rear of the auditorium and caused water to collect in the basement resulting in mold. The report also stated that the heat and air systems are outdated and inadequate and the entire electrical system is in need of repair.

(Note) at the town board meeting on Thursday night Mayor Bert Gritz asked interim Town Administrator David Treanor to look into replacing the gutters as soon as possible.

The new Historical Society will be chaired by Kevin Hopkins, and members include Jack Quirk, Barb Walters, Scott Hajek, and Frank Patton. This new group will become a 501-C non-profit and its main mission will be to look after this building and work as a fundraising mechanism to make the necessary repairs. The town will still own and operate the building.

THE 2ND ALL ABOUT HENNESSEY BUSINESS NETWORK EVENT

On Tuesday, March 7th, about 20 Hennessey business owners gathered at "The HIVE" event center for the 2nd All About Hennessey Business Network event. Rob Houston, Director of Visit Enid, spoke as the guest speaker and highlighted several things that set Hennessey apart.

Jack Quirk, founder of All About Network spoke to the group about how the All About Hennessey Facebook page alone has had over 1 million impressions in the last 28 days. Quirk said, "This is only about Hennessey and does not include the thousands we reached with our website, newspaper, and other social sites."

Shelia Duell, owner of The HIVE spoke about how she opened her boutique, Honey & Co in a small rented space in the old LaPorte Pharmacy. She owns the building now, several years later. The HIVE has been described by Duell as a learning center in addition to an event space. A variety of classes will be offered, including baking, knitting, and quilting.

These events are open to the public and are meant to bring business owners together to network and learn about things that will help their businesses grow. The next AAH Network event is planned for July.

Food was provided by Eagle Mart, the desert by Jack Choate's Farm Bureau Insurance, and balloons by Annie's Flowerhouse and table decoration plants provided by Taggarts. The HIVE is located behind Prairie Quilt at 114 E. Oklahoma St.

DISPATCHERS THANKED WITH A RECEPTION

Friday, March 10th, Hennessey police officers, Aaron Pitts, Christian Solis, Matthew Bruner, Reserve officer Brandon McKay, Reserve officer Bryan Burch and former dispatch supervisor Braden Peck honored Roni Decker and Brent Bruner for their service as dispatchers. Both were given plaques and treated with a cookies and refreshments.

TROY WATKINS HONORED

The top agenda item at last week's Hennessey Board of Trustees meeting was to honor long-time employee Troy Watkins. Mayor Bert Gritz presented Watkins with a Certificate of Honor from the Oklahoma Municipal League recognizing him for over ¼ century of service for the Town of Hennessey.

NEW CHILDREN'S LIBRARIAN

The Hennessey Public Library welcomes Ruby Rodriguez as the new Children's Librarian. Ruby grew up in Hennessey and graduated from Hennessey High School in 2020. Since she has such fond memories of coming to the library as a kid, she wants to create the same atmosphere and memories for the kids who will be visiting the library in the future. Her first day was Monday, March 13th. Having the opportunity to have this new experience and to see the program grow is what excites her most.

STORM SIREN FAIL

Last Tuesday Hennessey tested their tornado siren system and it failed. Mayor Bert Gritz reported to the board at the Trustees that none of the 5 town tornado sirens work. Parts of the current system are over 50 years old and operate using copper phone lines. Gritz said, "Most of the sirens work, we just can't communicate with them. The one south of town near Oakwood Dr. looks like an animal chewed through the wiring. The board took action on 2 solutions. The first action was to replace all of the sirens with all new equipment that can be activated via 2-way radio and each one will have battery backup. The problem is they will not be installed in time for this year's spring storm season.

The second action they took was to hire Farmers Electric to install a cellphone activation system on each of the existing sirens bypassing the old phone lines. Gritz told the board that this can be done in a few weeks and will get us covered for this year. This system can be reused for other things around town after the new sirens are installed, such as turning the sewer lagoon pumps on and off remotely.

NOT YOUR PARENT'S VIDEO GAMES

Electronic sports, or Esports, is a competitive sport involving video games. Hennessey High School Principal & Coach Joshua Faulkner said, "Whenever we were in school, our parents told us not to play video games, or to get outside more. All of that has changed now. We have competitive video games in schools." This is the first year of the Hennessey Esports program. Currently, the Hennessey teams compete only online. There are state tournaments that take place at the end of each season that is in person in a tournament-like setting. They are affiliated with the OSSAA's league.

Teams function much like athletic sports teams. Each player is assessed on their abilities, and how they play with others, and the starting lineup is chosen, and they have second-string players.

Joshua and his brother Drew work together to coach the competitors. They organize the teams and register players as well as advise on how to play.

It gives kids that have never had an extracurricular activity a place to feel accepted and valued and learn to be part of a team. HHS competitor Joseph Davis stated that he likes to be involved because it gives him something different to do at school.

Universities offer Esports scholarships, and there are professional leagues that pay for competing. There are around 30 students involved in the program, and it is expected to continue to grow.
