COMBINE CATCHES FIRE

by Jack Quirk

Hennessey and Dover Firefighters worked a combine and wheat field fire Saturday afternoon, June 8th, at the northeast corner of NS 2830 and EW 680, southwest of Hennessey. The fire was reported at about 2 pm, and according to the fire report, Wes Wright was cutting wheat when a bearing went out on his John Deere combine, starting a fire. The report stated that he tried to put dirt on it, but it got away and caught the field on fire. Firefighters were on the scene for about 2 hours working the fire. No injuries were reported. 4T'S FAMILY MARKET SHINES AS FLAGSHIP RETAILER FOR CERTIFIED HEREFORD BEEF IN OKLAHOMA

The American Hereford Association has honored 4T's by placing them on the cover of its monthly trade magazine. In three short years, 4T's Family Market has become the flagship retailer for Certified Hereford Beef in Northwestern Oklahoma.

Cindy Prible board of directors of AHA with Tim Taylor of 4T's Family Market

4T's has built a reputation of quality on its exceptional meat department, and the addition of CHB was the next logical step. According to Tim and Terry Taylor, owners/operators of 4T's, they chose the CHB due to the longstanding quality of the breed, which has existed since the 1700s, and the support offered by the American Hereford Association.

The AHA is the oldest breed association in the country and exists as a not-for-profit association that supports ranchers. CHB cattle must pass ten strict standards overseen by the USDA. CHB is one of the few major beef brands to be owned by ranchers across the country. 4B Herefords, located just east of Hennessey, is owned and operated by the Prible family, and Cindy is on the Board of Directors of AHA.

CHB has given 4T's a point of differentiation in a very competitive market. Tim Taylor, spokesman for 4T's, says, "It is the best beef they have ever sold. CHB has allowed us to have choice beef at an affordable price. The quality is proven on your table."

Transitions
by Bonny Flesher

Transitions By Bonny

Father's Day is coming up. My dad was my hero. He passed away in 2005 from a battle with lung cancer. During the 21 months of his fight, we had many conversations. Some were very hard, but all were my gift. Daddy quit school after his 8th-grade year to help support his family. When he was 15, he lied about his age to work on oil rigs. He joined the Marines at the age of 18, serving four years at which he married my mom. She was the calm to his storm! I was the 2nd of 3 children born in Bowie, Texas, while daddy was 100 miles away working on a rig. From the time I was six weeks old until two, we moved 22 times, living in a camper trailer. The term oilfield trash may come to your mind, and that's ok. It wasn't always easy, but the hard times weren't portrayed to me. I thought we were oilfield gypsies. I remember stories of resilience and danger. After moving to Hennessey for the 3rd time, we settled there. I remember traveling on weekends to wherever the rig had my dad. When we drove into Hennessey from the north or south, the lights from the oilfield yards made the sky look like a huge city! My dad was a tool pusher for Chris Well Service. Knowing my dad's work ethic, a foreman came out to the rig with an appreciation for a pumping position he wanted my dad to apply for. My dad explained he didn't have the education needed to qualify. The Foreman told Daddy to fill out the application but leave the education part blank.

After Daddy's application made it to the office, the foreman called his secretary, telling her to write in the education part, "Graduated from the school of hard knocks," and then sign his initials. Daddy got the job even though it was seven days a week. We had him home in the evenings. Our lives transitioned to a different life, and so many memories began growing up in one place I will forever cherish! My mom told me many times I was my father's daughter! I can't think of a better compliment! Happy Father's Day!

Bill Flesher on the job for Chris Well Service in the 1950s where he worked as tool pusher and later as foreman.

HENNESSEY TEEN INVITED TO PLAY IN SPAIN

Lady Eagles basketball player Emma Copeland, a Jr at Hennessey, was invited to play for America's basketball team next summer, June 23-July 1, 2025. Emma is the daughter of Lacey and Levi Copeland.

Emma has played on Enid's Legacy Youth Basketball team for 2 summers under Coach Josh Moulder. Legacy Youth Basketball is a youth prep organization focused on building young men and women into quality young adults, with a focus on physical development, sportsmanship, and respect.

Emma was invited because she is on one or more coaches' recruiting radars. They look for good athletes who can play multiple positions and mix and match lineups. They like to keep the rosters small to ensure all players get a lot of playing time.

Emma's invitation to America's Team is not just about basketball. It's an opportunity for her to experience a new country, its people, and culture, all while playing the sport she loves. Led by college coaches, these teams provide a unique platform for athletes to showcase their skills on an international stage. To learn more about the college coaches leading these teams, visit amteamsport.com/collegecoaches.

If you would like to help Emma with her trip, you can contribute to her fundraising efforts here: <https://shorturl.at/uZTUJ>

PRIDE AND PRESERVATION: A FAMILY'S JOURNEY WITH HISTORICAL HENNESSEY BUILDINGS

by Jenn Whitekiller

Our family feels a great sense of pride owning these historical Hennessey buildings and with that comes a great deal of responsibility for their upkeep. The buildings are over 100 years old now and we've been working to slowly update them as needed. We've added new flooring in the Hive, which serves as our Prairie Quilt retreat and classroom space and replaced a large old window on the north side of the Prairie Quilt building and added a beautiful new door to the front of the store. Inside we've worked to put in a wall that was the old LaPorte's pharmacy pickup counter- that area now functions as a breakroom for our team.

I decided to have some fun with the center room of our store. We replaced some of the original flooring that had been water damaged over the years and it was going to be nearly impossible to get a perfect match for the original boards, so we chose to paint the floors in that room. It really brightens the space and gives it a fresh and exciting look. I've collected old books for over 20 years and many were beginning to lose their binding and so I took out interesting pages and wallpapered the walls with them, page by page. You'll see old Reader's Digest condensed books and old copies of books like Heidi and Alice and Wonderland throughout the room. This allowed for more wall space for hanging finished quilts too, which we sell a lot of now. We often have men stop into the store on their way through town and they are looking for gifts for their mom or grandmother who are lovers of quilts. You'll find many of our finished quilts with price tags on them for purchase now, and if we're not yet ready to sell them we encourage customers to leave their information with us to be contacted when they are available to purchase.

I grew up coming into this store with my Grandma Patsy and I have fond memories of running errands to LaPorte's and to Lois's fabric shop where I'd thumb through all of the Butterick and McCall's book and look at all the buttons she had on display. I feel really honored to have these stores now and be able to give my kids their own memories here.

KINGFISHER COUNTY COMMISSIONER CANDIDATE

My name is David Roller and I am running for County Commissioner in Kingfisher County District #2. I am seeking your support in this endeavor.

I have been married to my wife Carol Roller for 35 years. She works at Hennessey Public School as the director of the school daycare and has been a teacher for 16 years. We have two daughters, Tori (25) and Ciara (27). Tori works as a certified medical assistant while Ciara is a certified event coordinator and stay-at-home mom. Ciara is married to Christian Eberle and they have three children, Lincoln (2 1/2), Remiel, and Gabriella (3 months).

My family and I have been members of the Catholic Church for many years and have been actively involved in various church activities and programs.

I have worked for District #2 for five years and have gained a deep understanding of how things work within the organization. Before that, I spent 40 years working in a local oilfield machine shop, 30 of which I served as the manager. As the manager, I was responsible for overseeing all business and jobs from start to finish. I assigned jobs to my employees, answered phones, talked to customers, went to job sites to diagnose problems, and drove our tandem gin truck to the location to bring in parts. I was proficient in mechanics and welding and could operate all kinds of machines from a lathe to milling, boring, slotters, and drill presses. I was also responsible for ordering parts from all over the United States to negotiate the best prices. My team and I repaired everything from a potato peeler for grandma to race car parts and wind turbines. No job was too small or too big for the team. Multitasking came easy for me, I had a budget of $1,000,000, and I would buy and sell equipment online.

In addition to my business experience, I have also spent 44 years studying martial arts and have achieved the rank of Roku-Dan 6th degree in Japan. I am the Oklahoma branch master for the United States and ran a successful dojo, training many hometown students to black belt.

For the last five years, I have worked as a Kingfisher County Sheriff's Deputy. I am trained in crisis intervention and basic first aid and proficient in firearms. Based on my overall experience and business acumen, I believe I have what it takes to run an efficient district. I am eager to earn your support for the office of Kingfisher County Commissioner #2.

Premium Quality Beef Direct from Decker Beef

Decker Beef has been raising and feeding cattle for its own consumption for many years. It has registered Black Angus Bulls and keeps its own replacement heifers to slowly grow its herd. Over the past four years, it has focused on improving the quality of its meat. It has done this by carefully choosing the genetics of its herd and breeding for better carcass traits. This translates to superior-quality meat for its customers.

Decker Beef sells meat in bulk, with customers being able to purchase 1/4, 1/2, or whole beef. If you purchase a 1/2 or more, you can choose how you want it cut. If you purchase a 1/4, it comes in a standard cut. They also offer a few cuts per month that are sold straight out of their freezer on a per-pound basis, and their meat is always vacuum-sealed (except for the hamburger meat). They have a variety of cuts available, including hamburger meat, roast, steak, ribs, and briskets, among others. They do offer delivery on occasion but those details can be hashed out later.
