Where are they now? Terrie Wollard

By AAH Shelley Muzny

Terrie was the only child of Earl "Shorty" and Ann Wollard. She was born in a little hospital in Wynnewood, OK, and was adopted at birth. They moved to Hennessey in 1961 when her dad was transferred for work (Eureka Tool Co.) Soon after they were in Hennessey, they moved west of town to Lacey so Terrie could have a horse. Terrie started school at Lacey in 1964, and her mom was a cook in the lunchroom. Lacey School closed in 1968, and the students were annexed into the Hennessey School District. It was quite a shock for Terrie, who went from four kids in her grade to four classrooms full of students. She played basketball, ran track, played saxophone in the band, and showed pigs in 4-H, but riding and showing horses was her favorite pastime. Terrie graduated from Hennessey High School in 1976. Terrie married Frank Pospisil and they had a daughter, Jennifer. After graduation, she worked at Easy Stop and then was a receptionist at Smitty's Construction Co. and Choate Ford. Later, Terrie worked for Champlin Refinery as a blueprint artist. Frank and Terrie divorced in 1977 but have remained friends throughout the years. Terrie married Brent Hajek in 1980 and had a son (Jake) in 1982. They bought a place near Ames and built a successful oil company and an elite collection of race cars together. Both kids started school in Ames. Later, they bought a couple of farms and added farming and cattle to the everyday workload. Between the oilfield business, farming, and raising kids, Terrie was also a race car driver, mechanic, and restoration artist for their collection of cars. Long hours spent working on cars, traveling all over the country to races, and attending all the kids' school events left little time for her horses. Soon both of her kids joined her riding in rodeos and playdays on horses of their own. After being divorced in 1997, Terrie moved to a farm northwest of Lacey, only miles from where she grew up riding horses with her lifelong friend Nora Sturgeon. Terrie is a cancer survivor and continues to raise, train and ride AQHA quarter horses at her farm. She began working horseback at local livestock auctions, including Enid Livestock, Fairview Sale Barn and Cherokee Sales. Terrie retired in March of 2023 leased out her farm ground but continues to work at the Geary Livestock

Auction each week. She continues to raise colts and condition them for sales that Terrie and her companion Craig travel to several times a year. Her love for horses will always remain. Terrie's daughter, Jennifer was an outstanding basketball player and received a full scholarship to OU. Jennifer and husband Brain Stork have three children and live in Aledo, TX. Terrie's son, Jake lives four miles from her and owns an oil company, operates a hot oil unit and has a couple of farms he enjoys farming. When Jake's not working he loves spending time with his sweet companion Anna Guffey. Terrie loves being Grandma T to her grandkids and having them all out to the farm. They ride horses, shoot clay pigeons, ride 4-wheelers and drive around in the old feed pickup. Terrie feels extremely thankful that her parents were at the right place at the right time and gave her a happy and wonderful childhood. Which included great memories and lifelong friends along the way. Everything happens for a reason and everyday is a gift!

FROM THE PULPIT ~ First Baptist Church Shane Bennett

Do you ever feel out of place?

Like you just don't belong? It's such an uncomfortable feeling of awkwardness. Even worse, though, is when you know you're not welcome somewhere. The Bible actually describes a strong sense of not belonging that many people feel toward God. In Ephesians 2:12, Paul reminds the people he is writing to of a time when they were like that. He says, "At that time, you were without Christ, excluded from the citizenship of Israel, and foreigners to the covenants of promise, without hope and without God in the world."

Ouch! Paul is describing this group of people who were living their own lives with no knowledge of God, much less care for Him. They were pursuing their own desires, living to fulfill their dreams, and serving whatever they thought would give them the best life. It's funny, 2,000 years and 4,000 miles removed from that context, a lot of people are living the same here and now. Paul isn't describing some extremely awful or ignorant people group, though. He's just describing normal life... apart from God. So, if you feel like you do not belong, especially with God, you should know that your feelings are normal and natural. But even more, you should know that this can change.

In the next verse, Paul shares the light that breaks into our darkness. He writes, "But now in Christ Jesus, you who were far away have been brought near by the blood of Christ." Paul reminds these people that God saw them in that condition and cared for them. He recalls how God has given the gifts of belonging, citizenship, promise, and relationship to these people who were strangers and foreigners before. He has done this through Jesus.

Left to ourselves, we would all be wandering through life, pursuing our own desires, living to fulfill our dreams, and serving whatever we think would give us the best life... only to come up empty. "But God," as Paul said before this, in verses 4-5, "who is rich in mercy, because of His great love that he had for us, made us alive with Christ even though we were dead in trespasses. You are saved by grace!" The incredible news of the gospel is that God has given His son to die on the cross so that He might give forgiveness, citizenship in His Kingdom, and belonging in His family to a people who neither knew Him nor loved Him.

So, if you find yourself adrift, feeling out of place, like there is nowhere in this world that you really belong, you should know that God sees you and he cares. He has even given His Son so that if you trust in Him, you will receive citizenship and take your rightful place of belonging at His table. If you want to understand this better or lean into this kind of life, find your way to a church this Sunday and tell somebody what God is stirring up in you. Only Jesus has what you really need!

JOURNEY INTO OUTER SPACE!

by AAH Ivan Cabral

The 1st and 2nd grade classes held their annual music program on Wednesday, November 6th, presented by the Hennessey Elementary School Music Department. This year's theme was Outer Space, and it truly was out of this world! The program was directed by Rachel Franks, the elementary music director, and featured a cast of characters including Aliens, Astronauts, Stars, Planets, and Galaxies!

The students brought the characters to life with their costumes. There were NASA astronauts of all kinds, green, purple, and shiny metallic-colored aliens, and of course colorful stars and galaxies. The program took the audience through seven different musical journeys through space, showcasing a variety of songs, from the Planet song to a feature song of the ex-planet Pluto, and even a very animated rap about the planets. Let's not forget how their very excellent mother brought them 9 Pizzas! If you attended the in-person program, we are sure you are still singing that song in your head. photos by AAH Shelley Muzny

LIGHTNING DELAYS CAN'T DELAY THE EAGLES PLAYOFF DREAMS!

by Taylor Ladwig

The (5-4) Hennessey Eagles had a do or die matchup against the Casady Cyclones, winner goes to the playoffs. On a chilly and rainy evening, the Eagles run game dominated. Hagen Copeland started the defense off optimally, with an interception, followed by Gunnar Holder and Jessin Hardin ripping off big runs, with Hardin punching it in for the first score of the ball game for Hennessey. The following drive stalled in punt fashion, and Jessin received one touch that he took over 20 yards to the house for the second score, and he wouldn't be done just yet. Casady's offensive finally gained a sense of momentum, striking quickly through the air to cut the deficit to one score, but Hardin gauged a 65 yard run to set up Braedyn Richardson perfectly for a 4 yard touchdown. The first lighting delay stopped the game at 21-7. When we returned, Gunnar Holder joined in on the fun for a rushing touchdown of his own, and another stop for the defense gave Jessin Hardin a hat trick 3rd touchdown in his best game of his career, extending the lead to 34-7. Unfortunately technical difficulties led me away from the game, but the Eagles would not tarnish their 27 point lead, winning by a final score of 48-21. Advancing to playoffs!!

URSULA BOXED UP

I have written about dressing up as Ursula so I didn't think anyone would want to hear about the continued story. But I have had a change of heart. First off for those that don't know Ursula is a villain who has power to look like anyone but chooses to be a white-haired half octopus with a drag queen inspired makeup. She is a character in the Disney movie "The Little Mermaid." I wrote about Ursula reading to Mrs Hagar's Pre-k class then dropping by to see a 3 yr old fan Violet Snow. Continuing on, Violet told her mom she wanted to be Ursula for Halloween. Her mom bought the costume and a mini Ursula came to be. Time for the Kingfisher Main Street trick or treating came. I once again put on the heavy makeup and inflated my tentacles feeling a bit like a huge purple eggplant with tentacles. Violet had told her mother she wanted to go back to the ocean with Ursula but as we met on the corner of main in Kingfisher America I found myself walking into Violet's imaginary ocean. Those eyes of admiration softened my heart and for just a few minutes I forgot about this world and its many conflicts. We stood on the corner and waved at the passing cars driving by. Most didn't wave back for whatever reason but it was okay. We were in a 3 yr olds imagination, a place of forgiveness and acceptance. Violet and I spent time visiting about Ursula's pet eels, we compared our tentacles. She took my hand as we walked, I felt my anxiety and that purple eggplant feeling melt away. Violet's mom thanked me over and over but at the end of the day I'm the one that needs to Thank Violet! Her ingenious is what I'll take away as her gift to me. Her 3 yr old self could teach us as adults a lot. The makeup has been washed off and Ursula is back in the box, but the feelings I felt are still present. Maybe we all can swim with a 3 yr old's imaginary ocean now and again. Thanks Violet aka mini Ursula
