19 START FIRE TRAINING

Firefighters from around the area settled into the new fire station conference room last night, November 21st, for the beginning of an intense training and certification program. In order to be a firefighter in Oklahoma the first requirement is to obtain the Firefighter One (FF1) certification. This program includes attending classes every weekend for 4 weeks and takes about 98 hours of classroom and hands-on training. The final test includes a live burn at Autry Technology Center in Enid. The class is led by the Oklahoma State Firefighters Association (OSFA) and the certification testing will be done by OSUOKC Fire Training.

The 19 participating men are from Big 4, Cashion, Fairview, Hennessey, Oakcliff, Ringwood, Waukomis, Dover and Omega Fire Departments.

When Hennessey started building the new addition to the fire station the plan was to be able to host large training events like this one. This is the first FF1 training for the new facility. The training was made possible by the Oklahoma State Firefighters Safer Grant. Everyone who passes the final exam will receive a new set of bunker gear valued at $5,000 each.

Firefighter One is the first level of training for firefighters in Oklahoma that focuses on basic fire suppression, incident management, and rescue operations. It's the minimum training level for paid firefighters and is also required for all firefighters to complete before moving on to the Advanced Firefighter Level. There are five levels of certifications for firefighters in Oklahoma. Photos by AAH Jack Quirk.

SLIGHT MAIL DELAY

Hennessey Mail Carrier Darla Obrien, already in the middle of the holiday onslaught of packages, was knocked off track Thursday, November 21st when her mail delivery SUV collided with another car at the intersection of N 2870 (S Mitchell Rd) and E 660 Rd. Darla said she hit her head and shoulder on the driver's window and the car came to rest up against a telephone pole totaling her car. The driver of the other car, a white Chevy SUV was Victor Ramirez from Hennessey, he was not injured.

Darla was transported to Integris Medical Center in Enid by LifeEMS and was treated for concussion and released. Darla said, "I have been a Mail carrier for 18 years and this is my only accident." Hennessey Post Master Jason Witt was on the scene quickly and they transferred all of the mail to another carrier's vehicle and completed delivering mail.

Darla said she was off and recuperating until Monday and now needed to find a new delivery vehicle. Hennessey Fire, Kingfisher County SO, OHP, and LifeEMS worked the scene.

Beautiful Music

Every year, exactly one week before Thanksgiving, hundreds of vocal music students from western Oklahoma come to Hennessey's Eagle Event Center and auditorium to make music together. Students from 15 different schools rehearsed songs all day Thursday, the 21st, in preparation for the early evening concert. Hennessey's choir director, Melissa Faulkner, coordinated the event with the assistance of the choir boosters and her Jr high and high school choir students.

In attendance this year there were approximately 250 high school students and 150 junior high students. The jr high choir was directed by Deryla Dorsey from Shattuck and accompanied by Dr. Laura Hillman from Cheyenne. The high school choir was directed by Derrick Bready from NWOSU in Alva and accompanied by Sohailah Stout, from Mustang.

HENNESSEY QUIZ BOWL TEAM COMPETE

The Hennessey 5th and 6th grade Quiz Bowl Team traveled to Pioneer Pleasant Vale Elementary on November 21st to compete. They split into two teams: Hennessey Blue and Hennessey White. Hennessey White took third place, and Hennessey Blue secured fourth. Great work to both squads! Hats off to all the team members for a job well done! by Shelley Muzny.

Cruise for Jarrett

On Wednesday, November 20th, about 100 cars, trucks, and motorcycles gathered at the Hennessey pool parking lot before heading out on the cruise. Main Street was packed with vehicles decorated with Christmas lights, cruising Main St for about 30 minutes. The Hennessey Fire Fighters cooked hotdogs for the participants.

Hennessey Police and Highway Patrol cruised alongside all of the other drivers. After several laps on Main, the drivers gathered at the pool again and then drove to the cemetery. Jarrett Smith died in a tragic car crash on this day one year ago. Photos by AAH Jack Quirk

FROM THE PULPIT ~ First Christian Church Rev. Ish Engle

Rediscovering the True Spirit of Christmas: Moving Beyond Materialism and Embracing the Miracle of Giving and Kindness

Thanksgiving season is past and we move on to Advent: a time to prepare ourselves for the soon-to-be-born Christ-child. It means we start focusing on shopping, eating, partying, and being nice to folk for a few weeks. That is a dark outlook, I think. It is one that looks at the world and all of its problems and refuses to take stock of blessings. It is a view which is surface deep and misses the true meaning of the season.

One of my favorite movies during this time of year is "Scrooged" starring Bill Murray. His take on the Scrooge-like Frank Cross screams of a materialistic, people using attitude that is far too prevalent in our world. That is why his transformation at the end of the movie is so powerful. As one person wrote on Reddit, "it is the most real take on Christmas and what makes it so special. Every sentence out of his mouth is from the heart and he speaks it as if he had just witnessed a miracle of God and was finally telling everyone how amazing it was. If you look up "epiphany" in a dictionary, this scene should be the only result you see."

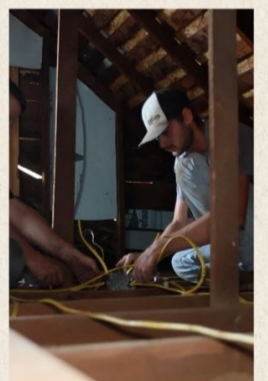

Frank's words are powerful. Here are a few:
It's Christmas Eve! It's... it's the one night of the year when we all act a little nicer, we smile a little easier, we... we cheer a little more. For a couple of hours out of the whole year, we are the people that we always hoped we would be. It's a... miracle. It's really a sort of a miracle. Because it happens every Christmas Eve. And if you waste that miracle, you're gonna burn for it, I know what I am talking about. You have to do something. You have to take a chance. You do have to get involved. There are people that are having trouble making their miracle happen. There are people that don't have enough to eat, or people that are cold. You can go out and say hello to these people. You can take an old blanket out of the closet and say "Here!", you can make them a sandwich and say "Oh, by the way, here!" I... I get it now! And if you... if you give ... then the miracle can happen to you! It's not just the poor and the hungry, it's everybody's who's gotta have this miracle! And it can happen tonight for all of you! ... You won't be one of these [people] who says "Christmas is once a year and it's a fraud", it's NOT! It can happen every day, you've just got to want that feeling. And if you like it and you want it, you'll get greedy for it! You'll want it every day of your life and it can happen to you! I believe in it now! I believe it's going to happen to me now! I'm ready for it! And it's great. It's a good feeling, it's really better than I've felt in a long time. I'm ready. Have a Merry Christmas, everybody."
May you be ready, too!

HENNESSEY NURSING AND REHAB CELEBRATES WITH THANKSGIVING DINNER

On Thursday, November 21st, Hennessey Nursing and Rehab Center residents were treated to a wonderful Thanksgiving dinner. The feast featured a spread of turkey, ham, mashed potatoes, gravy, dressing, green bean casserole, sweet potato casserole, hot rolls, cranberry sauce, assorted pies, and various sides and desserts provided by the families. Jimmy Berkenbile provided tables and chairs and led everyone in prayer before the meal, while residents created beautiful centerpieces to adorn the tables. Sharon Pray's donation of rolls from Golden Chick, Megan Choate's loan of roasters for baking the turkeys, and Willa Hiebert playing the piano while residents dined with the help of many others made the event possible. The staff takes great pleasure in organizing these gatherings to create a festive atmosphere for the residents.

Julie Torson, said, "I'm so thankful we're able to come together with family for a Thanksgiving celebration because that's what we all should be grateful for...family. I'm thankful for all of them because we're all part of a larger family now. Hennessey is an amazing community, and I'm thankful for that."

The center would like to take the opportunity to thank everyone who contributed and donated to this wonderful event. Photo by Susan Henry

Happy Thanksgiving!

Do you have a favorite holiday tradition? What are we saying..of course you do! If you are like us, then you are team Christmas starting in November (EXCEPT THOSE THREE DAYS OF THANKSGIVING..DON'T MESS WITH THOSE DAYS). Ha! ha! Honestly, we absolutely adore Thanksgiving. We grew up with Thanksgiving being the major family holiday on our mom's side of the family. We listened to Christmas music on our trip to the Kiamichi mountains every November and crowded into our grandparents' cozy mountain house in a valley town called Honobia, OK. Dear, precious memories that we wouldn't trade for anything. Our mom is the youngest of 5 girls. All 5 daughters and their families made the trip to the mountains which makes our Thanksgiving memories so very precious. As the years passed by and our grandparents passed away, Thanksgiving traditions changed. We still get together with as many family members as we can, but it isn't the same. We hope that you have precious family traditions and memories to hold near and dear to your heart as well! Life inevitably moves on and then it is our turn to be responsible for the next generation's holiday traditions/memories. Let that sink in...we are responsible for our kids' traditions that they will pass on. We are certain that this isn't life-shattering news to you, but occasionally when we are reminded of this, we are shook. We aren't adulty enough to be responsible for this much! Yet, here we are. So, here is your yearly reminder to make the memories. Do the things with your kids that meant so much to you when you were young. Let's pass on our traditions and memories and pray that they mean as much to the next generation as they mean to us.

Every year at Thanksgiving, our family sings "Count Your Blessings" (name them one by one) and it is beautiful. What a wonderful way to remind yourself that you need to consciously count the blessings that you have. It helps keep the negative thoughts at bay. There is still good in the world, still so much for which to be thankful. Let's all be thankful this season. We love you and pray that your Thanksgiving be a blessed one.

Here is a simple recipe that Summer modified. Sausage Balls made with pimento cheese instead of shredded cheddar. They are less dry and have a little spice that is perfect. Try it out this holiday season! (thanks to @southernlivingmag on Instagram for the pimento cheese inspo).

Summer's Sausage Balls

- 1lb sausage
- 12 oz pimento cheese
- 2 cups baking mix (such as bisquick)

Mix all together. Preheat oven to 350°F. Roll into balls, I prefer about an inch in diameter. Bake on a baking sheet for 15-20 minutes (depending on the size that you roll them).

You can make a double batch and freeze them to warm up small portions for a quick and yummy breakfast option, too. @okseasonedsisters

Capturing American History

By Sara Jane Richter

How do historians record American history? Two methods exist: secondary research and primary research. Secondary research, on the one hand, comes in the guise of books, films and articles written by someone who researched the event. On the other hand, primary research requires historians to capture history via primary sources, involving researching history provided by people who experienced the actual moment of history. These participants can write about their experiences, record videos or films about the events, or speak to share their experiences in a particular historical moment.

Kim Hobbs of Hennessey, Oklahoma, has opted to help preserve mid-20th century American history via primary research by helping to organize, promote, and share information regarding meetings and conferences attended by American flyers and combatants of World War II. He became interested in preserving this history when he realized that his father, Dr. Charles Hobbs, was a chief actor in the European and North African theaters of war during the 1940s world conflict; he signed up in May 1941, long before the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor. In the aftermath of the 1973 Kingfisher County flood, Kim found his father's military footlocker floating around in the family home's basement. Retrieving it and allowing it to air and dry out, Kim discovered a wealth of information about his heroic father that was unknown to him at the time.

The elder Hobbs piloted a B24 bomber nicknamed "The Wild Wolf" in North Africa and Europe in 1943; Hobbs found himself stationed in Libya soon after. From this location, he flew 50 successful combat missions, including the bombing run to destroy a vital fuel target in Europe. This mission became known as Operation Tidal Wave, during which US Army Air Forces planes bombed nine oil refineries around Ploiesti, Romania, on August 1, 1943, to deny Axis forces access to petroleum. It was a successful and dangerous mission, and one for which the squadron received a Distinguished Unit Citation. The group also secured the same citation type for operations over North Africa, Sicily, and Romania.

From 1942 to 1945, Dr. Hobbs flew as a member of the 376th Bombardment Group (Heavy). The group saw combat as part of the 9th, 12th, and 15th Air Forces in the combat area of Libya-Egypt and Italy. Hobbs and his fellow soldiers continued to share each other's lives from 1946 to 1962, when reunions were held annually at various locations in the US. Here, combatants shared insights and memories and strengthened the bonds of comradeship that they'd initiated during the war itself. Time, family, distance, and age caused reunions to end until Kim Hobbs learned of the group from reading a document in that once-wet footlocker.

Kim sought to help revitalize the reunions after having no organized gathering of these men for many years. He found a list of men in his father's unit and started doing detective work to get the group back together after 33 years. That group of men met in Charleston, South Carolina, and the rest is history, as the saying goes. The younger Hobbs volunteered to be the group's president in 2009, and since then, he has worked with others to keep the group afloat and invited other bomber groups to join this original group. In October 2024, twelve such bomb groups joined the 376th and met in Tucson, Arizona, to talk about old times and keep that history alive.

Since then, the Hobbs have attended many reunions across the nation: Washington, D. C.; Kansas City, Missouri; Phoenix, Arizona. Early on, perhaps 300 men and their families joined in the festivities and reunion; however, the group has decreased in number because of natural attrition. In addition, some of the men's ill health has prevented them from attending. The original members have left the group one by one through the years, but interested people continue to keep the story alive. Family members are always welcome at these events, too in order to network with other people who have this common historical link to their families and America.

The meetings have encouraged many of the participants to write their war stories, record videos of the group and WWII activities, reconnect with old friends, spark friendships, interview family members to keep histories alive and share memories of an exciting and earth-shattering event in world history. The history shared by Dr. Hobbs, his compatriots, and others has provided a wonderful assembly and collection of soldiers, airmen, historians, and family members to learn about what their relatives did to save the World from the evil of Nazism and the harsh effects of war.

It is a bond without paper; it is a bond of pure emotion and action that cannot be articulated or measured. Thank you to all veterans who have sacrificed for their nation and for my future. God bless each of you.
