AREA FOR THE FIRST TIME IN 11 YEARS!

by AAH Taylor Ladwig

The Lady Eagles competed against Oklahoma Christian School in the regional consolation championship, vying for a spot in the area tournament Saturday, March 1. This was their first opportunity to return to the area tournament since the 2013-2014 season. The Lady Eagles quickly took control, jumping to a 7-0 lead early in the game and preventing any baskets from the Saints for most of the first quarter. As Oklahoma Christian School found their offensive rhythm, the Eagles effectively responded with counterplays, maintaining their lead.

In the second quarter, OCS managed to hit a three-pointer and momentarily take the lead. However, after a basket from Hennessey, they were unable to regain the lead for the rest of the game. Katie Kennedy and Emma Copeland both scored in double digits, helping secure their advancement to the area tournament.

The first half ended with the score at its closest point, a narrow 20-18 lead for the Eagles. From that point on, the girls never allowed OCS back into the game, thanks to solid defense and consistent free-throw shooting. This victory also marked the Lady Eagles' first 20-win season since the 2013-2014 campaign, with a final score of 45-34. They will play Heritage Hall tomorrow, Thursday, March 6th at Kellyville at 1:00pm. photo by AAH Shelley Muzny

FIREFIGHTER REUNION BREAKFAST

Current members of the Hennessey Fire Department hosted a reunion for retired members of the department. Seven attended the breakfast, including Bert Gritz, Ronnie Roberts, Tim Taylor, Tim Riddle, Tom Streck, Kelvin Seiger, and Jimmy Patocka.

Chief Brandon Scott said, "We just wanted to say thank you to those who retired before us, sacrificing their time and pay to help build where we are today." Firefighters share a special brotherhood in the service, and they believe it's important to blend the past with the future. Scott stated, "It reminds us of the struggles to get here and helps us appreciate what we have. It shows the past, what their efforts have produced, and where we hope to go in the future."

There were many fun stories shared, and the retirees were excited to be remembered. Scott added, "You can retire from the service, but you'll always have it in your blood. It's always good to share with those who have been there and understand the memories that stick with you forever." Photo provided by HFD.

WEATHER OR NOT

Monday, March 3rd, the National Weather Service predicted a wild night for Kingfisher County, and they were right. At 9:30 pm, a Tornado Watch was issued, and at 11:12 pm, a Tornado Warning. Hennessey Fire opened a weather command at the fire station, sending out several storm spotting crews. Working with All About Hennessey, they made several posts and live videos warning the community in real time of the developing situation. The community storm shelter was opened, but a tornado warning was not issued. By midnight, the storms had started to reduce in intensity. Hennessey received high winds and torrential rain for about an hour.

DO OR DIE FOR THE EAGLES

by AAH Taylor Ladwig

The Hennessey Eagles bounced back after their tough district championship loss with a resounding win over Perry February 28th, their matchup against Lindsay would be a tough one, but a must win game in order to survive and advance. The first quarter was a quick one, few fouls, plenty of action, and no timeouts. Lindsay started out on top and took a nice quick lead, but Hunter Weber would give the Eagles a nice bounce back. Buckets traded, but it was Hagen Copeland two threes at the end of the first to square the ball game at 15 and give the Eagles momentum into the 2nd quarter. Lindsay kicked it off hot, going on a 7-0 run the first 3 minutes, but the Eagles would not be out done, clamping down and behind 2 Braedyn Richardson 3's, trailed by just 1, 28-27, headed to the halfway mark. The 3rd quarter, the birds flew into a propellor and lost the quarter 22-11, they would need a 12 point 4th quarter comeback in order to continue their season. The 4th quarter was not favorable for Hennessey, and their season unfortunately came to a close at the hands of a 72-54 lost. photo by AAH Shelley Muzny

OKSEASONEDSISTERS INTRODUCING YOUR HOMETOWN BREADDY CROCKER! This might be a little different than our usual articles and recipes but we have a lot to share with you so stick with us!

This might be a little different than our usual articles and recipes but we have a lot to share with you so stick with us! If you follow our socials...you may have noticed that Summer has been a little bit into sourdough. Haha! She has had her sourdough starter since 2020 but mostly stuck to loaf pan loaves, cinnamon rolls, pancakes, and English muffins. The thought of an artisan loaf was extremely intimidating but, practice makes perfect- or, at the very least, practice builds confidence and now we're affectionately calling her _____ wait, we'll get to that. Once she fully embraced her sassy-sourdough-self she simply couldn't ignore the little dilemma of her starter having no name. If you know sourdough then you know your starter needs a name. If you don't know sourdough just take our word for it. It's a big deal. Summer has liked so many names but nothing would stick. So we enlisted the help of all of you. And boy howdy did y'all have some names! So many good ones! And yet, they just didn't feel quite right. Those of you who have named your kids, pets, cars, or plants know that something just clicks when you land on the one. Boom! The perfect name came to her one day. Backstory- Dustin and Summer's house was built in the 1970s by Ray and Mable Jones. They loved the house well and we feel blessed that Summer has been able to live in/raise her kids in a house that was so well cared for and by only one other owner. Summer reached out to their daughter Marilyn to make sure that she was okay with this decision. It may seem silly but it was important to us that naming a sourdough starter after someone wasn't disrespectful to the family. Well, Marilyn got back to Summer and not only Marilyn but her two sisters are tickled and happy to have Summer's sourdough starter named in honor of their mama. So we present to you, Summer's sourdough starter~ Mable. Mable Munroe. It's perfect. While we liked so many names, we LOVE this one. It feels like that's how it was all along and we just didn't know it. The Jones' home has been home to Summer and Dustin for almost 19 years now and it is so loved. It's fun to make a space your own and they have slowly remodeled a little here and there over the years while still keeping all the original wood cabinetry in its true glory because we're suckers for the vintage stuff. Autumn had done the same while loving and renovating her 100+-year-old farmhouse that was sadly lost to a fire 2 years ago. She's now learning that building a completely new house and renovating an existing house are very different ball games. You can take your time while renovating. One room or project at a time. When building, every decision needs to be made at the same time. And y'all, there are so many decisions! So many tiny details! If you know Autumn, you know decisions are not her favorite thing. Her husband, Tony, does not have that problem though so they balanced each other out and managed to enjoy designing their home together. Just waiting for the building to wrap up so they can finally move in! For those locals who are wondering, we're praying that'll happen in the next couple of months! That's all about our separate homes; together we also have a shared place we call The Barngalow. You might call it a she-shed, the female alternative to a man-cave. But, you know we like to be unique. Barndominiums were a craze there for a while but this is small, like a bungalow so barngalow. For us, it's a shared creative space and we have loved the journey of transforming it from a storage shed into what is, in our opinion, a lovely space that highlights our sisterhood (yes, that's a word now) filled with things that are important to the both of us. Someday soon, it will be a place where we can sew, cook, read, and just be. Finally, this leads us to Breaddy Crocker! Our dad doesn't know it yet but he kinda helped inspire this name by calling Summer a little Betty Crocker for all her baking. Now, with her sourdough ahem obsession, it's become Breaddy Crocker. Summer will begin offering sourdough and baked goods for sale as Your Hometown Breaddy Crocker. Be on the lookout for a new Facebook page solely dedicated to Breaddy Crocker so we don't overrun OKSeasonedSisters with everything sourdough. Don't worry! There will still be sourdough! But, Breaddy Crocker will be your source for all things sourdough and more! Get excited for delicious, homemade baked goods! Thank you for all of your love and support! @okseasonedsisters

From the Pulpit ~ First Baptist Church

Rev. Shane Bennett

So I was in my quiet time, reading the book of 3 John. John outlived the other apostles and wrote letters to churches and people late in the first century, 50-60 years after Jesus ascended in to heaven. The book of 3 John is a letter that he wrote to a dear friend and faithful brother named Gaius, whom he encouraged to continue in godliness and love.

Then, there is this sadly familiar of the letter in verses 9-10. He said, "I have written something to the church, but Diotrephes, who likes to put himself first, does not acknowledge our authority. So if I come, I will bring up what he is doing, talking wicked nonsense against us. And not content with that, he refuses to welcome the brothers, and also stops those who want to and puts them out of the church."

That sounds like some pretty hateful and hurtful actions going on in one of the churches during the lifetime of the apostles. A lot of people think that hateful and hurtful actions are a problem that happens today, but the first Christians didn't have. We read about the unity and spiritual power they shared in the book of Acts and somehow think that they didn't have any problems. But the rest of the New Testament recounts problems in several church, even serious ones. The book of 1 John was about a church split. 1 Corinthians addressed sin and divisions in the church. And Philemon was a letter pleading for reconciliation.

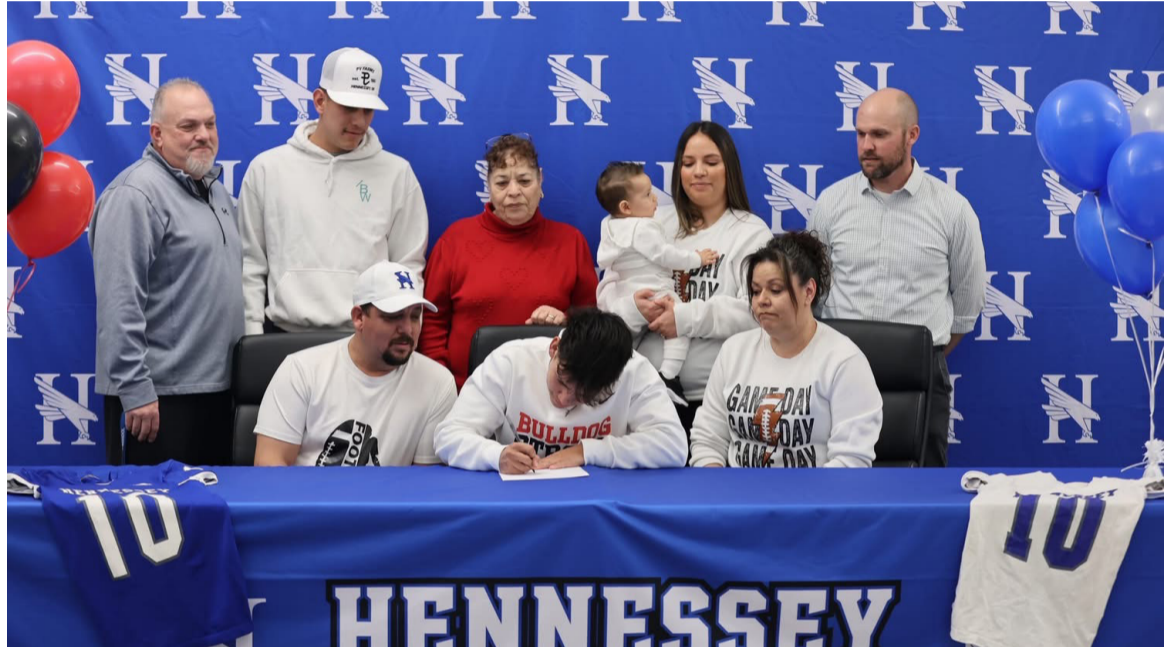

The fact is, people are people. Throughout the church age, just like every age before it and in every other walk of life, there have always been people who say and do things they shouldn't. People can be rude, selfish, unloving, or even just careless and cause hurt, perhaps without even intending it. This is because we are imperfect people, living in a world that is broken by our sin.

I want to encourage you not use these failures as a reason to avoid God's house or God's people. Most of them are anxious to show you His love and encourage you. God meets with us when we gather together and He creates the ground for true unity and love. So if this word hits home for you, let love cover over a multitude of wrongs, as Peter wrote, and choose forgiveness instead of distance. And may the Spirit of God give you peace as you worship Him.
