SEMI-TRUCK OVERTURNS NEAR HENNESSEY

Hennessey, OK — May 7, 2025, a semi-truck rolled over Wednesday afternoon on State Highway 51 near 2950 Road, approximately 10 miles east of Hennessey.

According to a report from the Oklahoma Highway Patrol (OHP), the incident occurred around 3:30 p.m. The driver, identified as Theron Harris of Lawton, was traveling eastbound when he failed to maintain his lane and veered off the right side of the roadway. Harris attempted to steer the truck back onto the highway but lost control. The vehicle crossed the center line and continued off the left side of the road, where it entered the north ditch.

The truck struck a concrete culvert and rolled a quarter turn before coming to rest on its passenger side. Hwy 81 was closed for about 30 minutes while M6 Wrecker and Recovery worked on recovering the semi.

Harris was transporting a load of dog treats from Okeene to Kansas at the time of the crash. The OHP reported that Harris was transported to a hospital in Enid with injuries to his head, neck, and arm. His condition was not immediately known. Hennessey Fire, OHP, Kingfisher County Sheriff Department, Life EMS, and M6 Wrecker and Recovery worked the scene.

ENID PD GRADUATES NEW CLASS, HENNESSEY'S BURCH JOINS THE FORCE

The Enid Police Department held a graduation ceremony on May 9 for CLEET Academy Class 2025-1, honoring 13 new officers and deputies ready to serve across Oklahoma.

One familiar face in the group was Officer Ryan Burch, son of Bryan and Shelley Burch of Hennessey. Ryan will join the Enid Police Department, continuing a strong family legacy of public service. He's the fourth generation to serve, with deep roots in Kingfisher County law enforcement.

HPD Reserve Officer Bryan Burch, pinning his son, Enid PD Ryan Burch.

Family, friends, and community members packed the room to celebrate the recruits, who spent months pushing through physical training, long days in the classroom, and more than a few OC spray lessons they won't soon forget. The message of the day? Graduation isn't the finish line it's the starting point.

His great-grandfather, Robert "Bob" Lee, served as Undersheriff for Kingfisher County in the late 1970s. His dad, Bryan, has been a reserve officer for Hennessey PD since 2003. His uncle, Jason Burch, has spent 18 years with the Oklahoma Highway Patrol. Add in Great-Grandma Norma Lee and Great-Aunt Lawayne Darling, who both worked at the Kingfisher County Jail, and you've got a true law enforcement family tree. His sister Bryann Walls currently dispatches for the county, and his sister Sierra worked as a dispatcher for Hennessey PD back in 2016.

With that kind of background, Officer Burch isn't just wearing the badge he's carrying on the family business.

NINETY NEVER LOOKED BETTER

On Saturday, May 10th, a fabulous group of women gathered for the 3rd Annual 90s Ladies Social. But don't be fooled, this wasn't a throwback to scrunchies and boy bands. These beauties have earned their 90s... as in age, not decade! Yes, to attend this classy social, you had to be at least 90 years young, and these ladies are living proof that age is just a number (a very fabulous one, we might add). Guests were treated to a delightful meal fit for royalty, a dance performance from the always-fantastic RedLevé crew, and left with gift baskets that would make the younger crowd jealous. Big thanks to the generous hearts who made it all possible: Hennessey United who hosted this event, Farm Bureau, Pecans of Merritt, and Hennessey Flower Shop. You all helped create a day these ladies, and everyone lucky enough to witness it, won't soon forget. Photos by AAH-Amy Smith

by AAH, Shelley Muzny

Tyson was born in Okeene and raised in Lacey (Hennessey). He made his grand entrance into the world on Halloween, to parents Dean and Almeta Ashlock. Dean and Almeta had four children: Travis Ashlock, Teresa Wymore, Tabitha Ferrell, and Tyson. During high school, Tyson participated in FFA for one year and FCCLA for two years. He was also a starter on the Hennessey High School Boys Basketball team and was crowned Basketball Homecoming King. Tyson graduated from Hennessey High School in 2004.

After graduation, he began working for Longhorn Service Companies, where he spent 15 years, before moving on to Brian's Hot Oil Service, where he has worked for the past six years as a Hot Oiler. Tyson has certainly followed in his father's footsteps, yet he has also forged his own path. Dean often says, "There's nothing that kid is afraid of, and he works hard." Dean and Tyson had the privilege of working together when Tyson first started, and they cherish the priceless memories made during that time.

Tyson married Rebekah (Bekki), and they have been happily married for 17 years. They have one son, Taryn, who is a junior at Kremlin. Tyson and Bekki stay busy supporting Taryn in his various activities. Taryn plays baseball, basketball, and drives a race car. Tyson and Taryn spend countless hours discussing sports, racing, and working on the race car together.

Despite having a demanding job, Tyson is a dedicated family man who always puts his family first. He is a great husband, father, son, and brother. The family also plays on a co-ed softball team on Wednesdays in Enid. Tyson and Bekki have worked hard to create a beautiful family and life together. To know Tyson is to know you have someone you can count on during a time of need, as well as someone who will make you laugh and remind you to enjoy life!.

ANGEL MOM

by Bonny Flesher

Sunday, May 11th, 2025 was Mother's Day! If you are fortunate enough to still have your mother, hug her. I have lived 15 years without mine and cherish the memories I have of her. I remember her dancing the Charleston in the kitchen and playing Scrabble with my brother, often challenging every word he came up with. There was always a dictionary nearby to verify if the words were real. Mom loved to cook and feed people; I truly believe it was her way of showing love. You never left Bill and Jeannie's house with an empty stomach.

She also loved to read, and I would often find her absorbed in a book, which she would put down when we arrived. My mother had a beautiful alto voice and enjoyed harmonizing with others in her church choir. I can still hear her singing at the kitchen sink to whatever was playing on TV. My dad loved her voice and often expressed his admiration, claiming that her alto was better than anyone you'd hear on the radio. She always said her goal was to sing in God's choir.

I usually waited until after 6:30 PM to call home, mainly because long-distance rates were lower at that time. Coincidentally, that was also when the game show "The Wheel of Fortune" was on TV. I always asked the same question: "What are you doing?" If my dad answered, he would say, "Watching Vanna," and if my mom answered, she would say, "Watching the Wheel." Their responses always made me giggle!

I can't reflect on the memories my mom gave us without mentioning her faith. She wasn't perfect, but she had a servant's heart and did her best to pass that down to her children. She often spoke about angels among us. I remember when I was four years old and my grandmother, my mom's mother, passed away. This was my first experience with loss. Mom took me to the funeral home and held me over my grandmother's casket while explaining that our bodies are like seashells. She said that when we die, we don't need our bodies anymore. I noticed a calmness in the room and a golden glow surrounding us, which made me feel safe. I kept what I saw and felt to myself for many years, thinking who would believe a four-year-old?

Years later, while driving my mom to an appointment in Enid, my grandmother came up in the conversation. I finally found the courage to ask her about that moment in the funeral home. Mom didn't hesitate and explained that the glow I saw was the angel Gabriel, who had come to comfort us. She never mentioned it again, nor did I.

Fast forward to 15 years ago, and there I was, quietly sitting in the funeral home next to my mother's "seashell" that carried her spirit. Once again, I felt comfort, and yes, there was that golden glow in the room!

FROM THE PULPIT

COME THIRSTY, LEAVE FILLED

Pastor Shane Bennett
First Baptist Church

Where do you turn when days are difficult and your needs seem to overwhelm you? Where do you look for encouragement, comfort, and hope? The bible is a great place to turn, but where in the bible? If that's you, there is a helpful chapter hidden in the Old Testament in Isaiah 55.

Out of great compassion, the Lord says this: "Come, all you who are thirsty, come to the waters; and you who have no money, come, buy and eat! Come, buy wine and milk without money and without cost." These are just the kind of verses that offer that encouragement. God is telling us where we can have our needs met. He shows us where refreshment comes from and how we can get it.

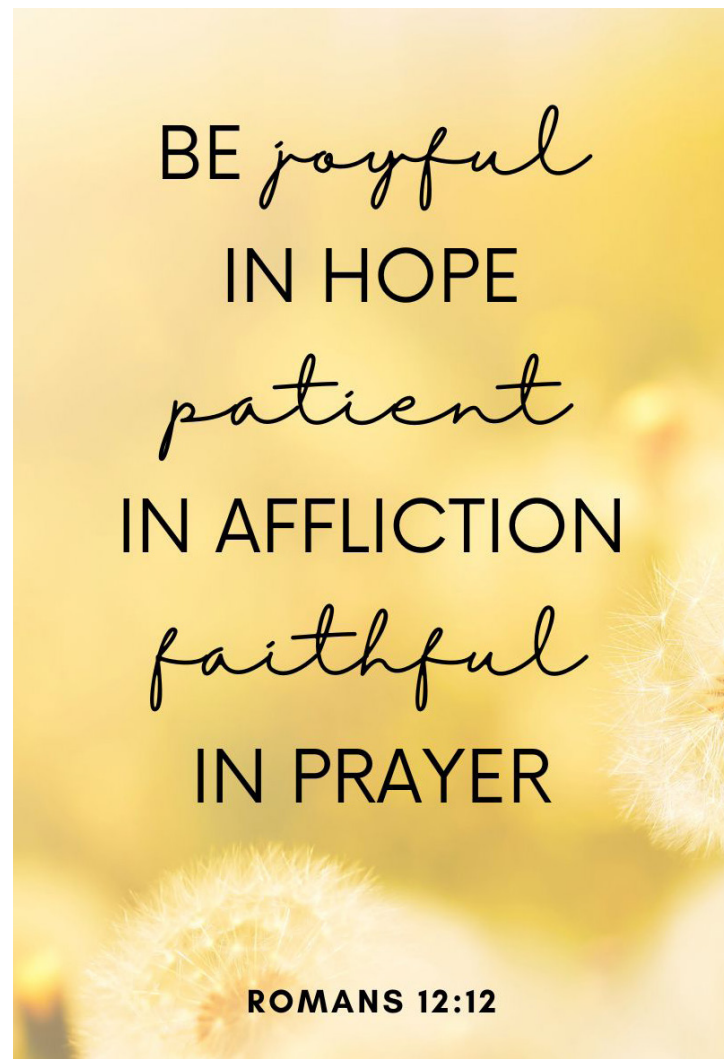

He says that we buy it. Hopefully it seems strange to you that God would suggest that. Grace is not for sale. We don't buy it. This is why He says that we buy it without money and at no cost. Does that sound too good to be true? The deepest needs we have in life are found at the Lord's store, but he won't take your money. His graces are gifts.

So, how can they become ours.

In verse 3 he says, "Give ear and come to me; listen, that you may live." God is calling us to come to Him. That may seem really simple, but coming to Him means leaving other things behind. This becomes clearer in verses 6-7 where he says, "Seek the Lord while he may be found; call on him while he is near. Let the wicked forsake their ways and the unrighteous their thoughts." Many times when we consider that the bible tells us to leave our sinful ways we think of it in hateful or judgmental terms.

In truth, we all deserve judgment from God because of the wrongs we have done. But it's not a hateful or vengeful attitude in God that calls us to repent. In the rest of verse 7 He says, "Let them turn to the Lord, and he will have mercy on them, and to our God, for he will freely pardon." Because of God's love and mercy He calls people to turn away from their wrong attitudes and wrong actions.

The gospel presents satisfaction for the hungry and thirsty who hear this call to repentance. The gospel gives us hope of coming to the storehouse of grace with empty hands and being filled with forgiveness, peace, love, and confidence in the enduring grace of a heavenly father. I pray that you might turn to Him today. If you want help with that, you can go to a church in town and talk to a pastor that can show you the way to Jesus.

TIPS FOR GIFT GIVING/HOW TO BE THOUGHTFUL ~

It's graduation time! Almost time for summertime weddings and baby showers|births. And, of course, there's always birthdays and anniversaries. Not to mention, the opportunity for a "just because" gift. (Really wish we would've had this article done in time for teacher and nurse appreciation week and Mother's Day buuut c'est la vie.) Last but certainly not least, is another time to give— when someone that you care about is hurting. This is perhaps the best time to show how much you care. Keep in mind that during times of grief the person is most likely overwhelmed by their emotions... left feeling vulnerable... maybe even lost. If they can't tell you what they need, because their brain is overloaded_ try not asking. Just take it upon yourself to give them something or do something for them that you think could help.

When it comes to gift giving, if you know the person well enough, give them some of their favorite things. If you don't know their favorite things, give them basics|essentials. If you don't even know them that well, give them cash. Give something you'd like for yourself! If your recipient is someone that's lost all their possessions or maybe a graduate moving out for the first time— think about your favorite thing you own or what makes your day|life better that you believe they could benefit from receiving. Or, think outside the box- be a thoughtful|creative gift giver. Give them your time. Give of your talents. Give of yourself. No matter what you give, be a cheerful gift giver.

If you must ask, be specific ~ instead of the general statement of "what do you need?" ask "could I get you a(n) _____?" *even better "I'd love to get you a(n) _____" Don't be afraid to talk about a budget or price point. We know that might be awkward but, meet them in the awkwardness! One honest conversation about what you're able to spend could dispel that awkwardness and actually help you both enjoy the whole exchange more.

We understand that is a hard concept for some people to be comfortable with. Neither of us really enjoy talking about money- especially when it involves money being spent on us. So, we get it. But, as we all know (or are learning), we have to do the hard things to help us grow.

Tips for receiving gifts:

If you're asked what you'd like or what you need- don't be afraid to be honest if there is something specific you want|need. It's very helpful to make a list or registry for people to shop from. Be sure to include items of varying price-points. If you're not asked or you're given a "just because" or especially if you're given a "grief time gift" you must humble yourself and receive the gift graciously.

A perspective shift that could help is that someone giving you something might actually have more to do with them than you. It might be their love language or the only way they know how to express themselves or a way they're letting you know they care. After receiving, be sure and express your gratitude. Let's revive the art of sending thank you cards! At the very least a thank you text. Or, be brave and thank them in person! Maybe even hug! gasp Haha, it feels like the quarantine years made us so standoffish that we need to be reminded we CAN show affection and hug again.

Fun facts regarding our duo: Autumn is the gracious, thoughtful giver and Summer constantly says, "oh I wish I would've thought of that...can I cashapp you and go in on it?!" Haha! But, Summer is better at graciously receiving and expressing her gratitude whereas Autumn is ridiculously awkward when gifted something. Lol

Good news: It is never too late to improve your gifting (or receiving) skills. Just keep it simple and find joy in sharing with those around you!

DOBRINSKI COMMENTS ON CANTON LAKE FACILITY CLOSURES

OKLAHOMA CITY – Rep. Mike Dobrinski, R-Okeene, today commented on the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers announcement of several temporary recreation facility closures at Canton Lake.

Dobrinski said it's his understanding the main impact will be closure of the primary swimming beach at Sandy Cove as well as one of the larger campgrounds, the Fairview Group Camp. The majority of campsites will remain available to rent throughout the summer. The closures are happening due to Canton only having one full-time ranger at the moment. They are unable to hire additional staff until a federal hiring freeze expires in July. A full-time ranger already is lined up to transfer to Canton at that time, along with two seasonal summer rangers as normally occurs each summer.

Dobrinski said he was told this is more of a safety concern at the moment, as one ranger cannot safely monitor all these area. This is not a long-term funding issue, and there is expectation for everything to be back to normal by next summer when the lake can be fully staffed.

"I know Canton Lake is important to our area residents and for our local economy that benefits from the number of visitors we receive each summer," Dobrinski said. "I will stay on top of this issue to ensure this is resolved as quickly as possible."

According to a U.S. Army Corps of Engineers news release, anyone who has made reservations for camping at any of the closed areas will automatically be issued a full refund in four to six weeks. Reservations will be cancelled and fully refunded starting May 15. The objective is to open the parks at the earliest opportunity while minimizing impacts to the public.
