DECEMBER "ALL ABOUT YOU" FLOWER PRESENTATION

December's "All About YOU" flowers go to Bryan and Shelley Burch Jamie Shimanek shared these kind words about them:

"When we think about Christmas time in our community, I doubt there is anyone who doesn't think about Shelley and Bryan! Yes, we know about their fundraiser and the gift giving, but have we ever really sat down and dug deep into what it takes to make this

HENNESSEY RESERVE ANGELS 2025

With lights flashing and sirens wailing, the Hennessey Reserve Angels kicked off their 20th year in style, rolling into the Hennessey Care Center just after noon on Christmas Eve for their annual delivery to residents. It was the kind of arrival that says, "Don't worry, Christmas is here," and maybe caused a few folks to peek out the window just in case something exciting was happening, because it was.

After the Care Center stop, volunteers from the Town of Hennessey, Police, Fire, Kingfisher County Sheriff's Office, Okeene Police, and the Oklahoma Highway Patrol fanned out across the area delivering Christmas cheer. By the end of the day, gifts had reached 52 families, 139 children, and 35 senior citizens in and around Hennessey, proving once again that teamwork makes the holidays brighter.

This year, the Hennessey First Baptist Church added an extra helping of Christmas spirit by donating 55 hams, one for every family on the list, because nothing says "Merry Christmas" like a ham in the fridge.

The Hennessey Reserve Angels continue their mission of making sure children in Hennessey and surrounding communities have something under the tree on Christmas morning. If you know of a family in need, don't hesitate to contact Hennessey Town Hall at 405-853-2416. Photo by AAN Jack Quirk

The fundraiser...have you ever put together a fundraiser? Not helped, but dreamt it up and put together all of the necessary pieces? Made sure you have the supplies, made sure all parts are working together cohesively, you have all the volunteers lined up, the marketing is in place to get the word out, and donations are coming in. Whew, I'm tired just thinking about all of this, I can't imagine how much time is actually spent bringing it to fruition!

Now, let's get to the real work! I have to imagine they shop year-round for the "cool stuff" on sale, that dollar needs to stretch! Oh, the shopping!! Then comes the inventory and the wrapping, all to get to the reward. The smiles on the children and seniors' faces, knowing they have not been forgotten, and the relief of the parents over the help they have received! This is why our community has nominated you guys for the All About Flowers. We see you, and we appreciate you!!"

On behalf of All About Hennessey and Hennessey Flower Shop, we congratulate Bryan and Shelley for the kindness, generosity, and heart they consistently show our community.

Why This Ride Meant More Than Any Resolution

I had every intention of writing about New Year's resolutions. The problem is, the more I thought about what to say, the more I realized I'm still pondering last year's resolutions, the ones that quietly fell to the wayside after a few days. So instead, since I'm still grinning ear to ear, I'd rather reminisce.

Delivering gifts with the Reserve Angels in Hennessey has a way of doing that to you.

You've probably heard the stories, the pork butt sale, Bryan and Shelley Burch starting the Reserve Angels, and the army of volunteers that make it all happen. This year, though, I got to check something off my bucket list. You see, I've ridden in the passenger seat of a highway patrol car and a local police car. And just in case you're wondering, both were for positive reasons. This year, I rode in the passenger seat of the fire truck.

Logan Macy was our driver, and I was loaded down with bags of gifts. Totally worth it for the front-row seat perched up high, watching the deliveries unfold. As the afternoon wore on, I noticed the fire truck horn seemed to sound a lot. Eventually, Logan politely explained that my foot kept hitting the button on the floorboard.

Once I realized I had access to that kind of power, well, let's just say it probably didn't help that I found every excuse to use it.

We had so many deliveries that Matthew Streck was riding in the back to make sure we didn't lose any precious cargo. I did ask Logan more than once if we still had Matthew, and he always reassured me that he hadn't "dropped and rolled." I'm pretty sure I stole Matthew's spot in the front seat this year. Matthew, if you're reading this, just know Shelley and I have already been plotting for next year. It involves you riding shotgun in a red suit with a beard.

TRANSITIONS BY BONNY FLESHER

The Angels always make a stop at the Hennessey Nursing Center, and the requests there were as varied as they were sweet. One of my favorites was a request for a dozen donuts. One of Santa's elves even made a special trip to Enid earlier that morning to make it happen.

After the controlled chaos at the nursing home, the elves headed back to Santa headquarters to reload, bags of gifts, bikes, soccer goals, and vanities. But more than anything, everyone was loaded up with the spirit of giving.

I didn't get out at every house, partly because I was buried under gifts, but I had a front-row seat to something special. Watching both the giving and the receiving was better than Saturday morning cartoons. And that's saying something.

We talk a lot about the volunteers, and rightly so, but I want to give a special shout-out to the young volunteers who showed up. They witnessed the excitement of gifts being opened and saw firsthand how contagious joy can be.

One of my favorite parts of the day actually came afterward, when everyone gathered to share stories and emotions from the day. Those moments stick with you.

Thank you to Logan for driving us safely, to Melissa Macy for snapping a few photos, I'll be adding those to my album, and to Matthew for letting me steal his spot this year. The little girl in me is still grinning.

Now that I've gotten all of that out, I suppose I'll try to move forward into 2026 and think about New Year's resolutions. And don't forget to eat your black-eyed peas.

One Year In: Sheriff Aaron Pitts Reflects on Progress and Community Connection

KINGFISHER COUNTY — January 2 marked one year in office for Aaron Pitts, a milestone that comes with a year of updates, growth, and increased community involvement for the Kingfisher County Sheriff's Office.

During his first 365 days, several visible changes were made within the department. The Sheriff's Office introduced a refreshed look that included a new badge design, updated uniforms, and new decals on patrol vehicles. The updates were part of a broader effort to modernize the department while maintaining professionalism and pride in service.

Staffing and public safety were also key Aaron and Ariel Pitts photo provided priorities. Over the past year, five additional deputies were hired, improving patrol coverage, increasing visibility, and strengthening the Sheriff's Office's ability to serve communities across the county.

Community engagement remained an important focus throughout the year. Deputies participated in the Kingfisher Fourth of July parade, where they handed out treats donated by employees of the Sheriff's Office. They also took part in Downtown Trick-or-Treat in Kingfisher, enjoying the opportunity to interact with families while handing out candy and admiring the wide variety of costumes. Training and preparedness were emphasized as well. Multiple training days were held to ensure all deputies are properly certified to carry the Taser 7, while still maintaining adequate patrol coverage throughout the county.

The holiday season showcased strong cooperation among local agencies and community groups. The Sheriff's Office participated in holiday events in both Hennessey and Kingfisher, including the Holidays With Heroes program alongside the Kingfisher Police Department and the Kingfisher Fire Department. Deputies also joined the Hennessey Reserve Angel program with the Hennessey Police Department and the Hennessey Reserve Angels, helping support local families during the holidays.

As the Sheriff's Office reflects on the past year, it recognizes a wide range of moments, from difficult calls to community celebrations, all underscoring the close-knit nature of the county's towns and rural areas. Officials say they look forward to continued involvement and stronger connections within each community in the years ahead.

In case of an emergency, residents should call 911. For non-emergency situations requiring a deputy, the Kingfisher County Sheriff's Office can be reached at 405-375-2793.

FIRE DESTROYS OLDER HOME IN DOVER; NO INJURIES REPORTED

DOVER — An older two-story home in Dover was destroyed by fire Monday afternoon, December 29, 2025.

The Dover Fire Department was dispatched around 1:30 p.m. to a structure fire at 123 N. Sheridan Avenue. When firefighters arrived on scene, the south side of the home was already fully engulfed in flames.

The residence is located next door to the Dover Fire Station. Due to the extent of the fire, Dover firefighters quickly requested mutual aid from the Hennessey Fire Department to assist with suppression efforts.

Officials confirmed that no one was home at the time of the fire and no injuries were reported.

Additional assistance at the scene was provided by the Kingfisher County Sheriff's Office, Kingfisher County Emergency Management, OG&E, and ONG.

PEYTON BURNS UPDATES HENNESSEY LIONS CLUB ON FEDERAL TAX POLICY, NONPROFIT SUPPORT, AND CONGRESSIONAL WORK

Peyton Burns, a Kingfisher native and staff member for U.S. Senator James Lankford, visited the Hennessey Lions Club on Thursday, December 18, to share an update on recent federal legislation and ongoing work in Washington.

Burns, who noted it had been some time since his last visit, said the past summer had been especially busy on Capitol Hill, highlighted by the passage of major tax legislation often referred to as the "big, beautiful bill." The measure primarily focused on extending provisions of the 2017 Tax Cuts and Jobs Act that were scheduled to expire at the end of this year.

"Every one of those tax cuts had expirations," Burns said. "If Congress hadn't acted, tax brackets would have reverted to pre-2017 levels. Making those tax cuts permanent was a top priority."

According to Burns, the legislation prevents automatic tax increases and provides long-term certainty for individuals, families, and businesses. He also emphasized provisions aimed at supporting nonprofits and churches, an issue he said became apparent after changes made in 2018.

When the standard deduction was increased, many low- and middle-income donors no longer itemized deductions, which meant charitable contributions could no longer be written off. Burns said this had a noticeable impact on nonprofit giving nationwide.

To address that issue, Senator Lankford worked to include portions of the Charitable Act in the tax package. The provision allows charitable donations to be deducted "above the line," meaning donors can claim the deduction even if they take the standard deduction.

Under the new law, individuals may deduct up to $1,000 in charitable donations, while married couples may deduct up to $2,000. "It's a start," Burns said. "We'd like to see those numbers higher, but it puts something back in place for nonprofits and churches that were hit hard after 2018."

Burns said the change will take effect with the upcoming tax filing season, allowing taxpayers to deduct eligible nonprofit donations when filing 2025 returns.

Another key component of the legislation addressed business equipment depreciation. Burns explained that following the 2018 tax changes, businesses were required to spread equipment write-offs over several years instead of deducting them immediately. "We heard from a lot of small businesses, farmers, and ranchers who said this was creating real problems," Burns said.

The updated law restores immediate expensing for qualifying equipment purchases and makes the change permanent. It is also retroactive, allowing businesses still depreciating past purchases to apply the new rules.

Burns also touched on changes to federal assistance programs, noting new work requirements for certain SNAP and Medicaid recipients. He emphasized that the requirements would not apply to seniors or individuals with disabilities, but are intended to reduce fraud and encourage workforce participation among able-bodied adults.

In addition, the legislation included updates related to agriculture, with commodity prices increased across the board as part of ongoing farm bill efforts.

Looking ahead, Burns discussed recent frustrations surrounding a government shutdown in October, which lasted several weeks amid stalled appropriations negotiations. He said Senator Lankford continues to advocate for reform through the Prevent Government Shutdowns Act.

The proposal would automatically trigger short-term continuing resolutions if appropriations deadlines are missed, keeping the government open while requiring members of Congress to remain in Washington and focus solely on passing funding bills. "The senator believes government shutdowns are unnecessary and disruptive," Burns said. "This approach forces Congress to stay at the table and get the work done."

Burns concluded by saying there is more legislative work ahead, including ongoing appropriations efforts and additional policy discussions in the coming year. Photo by AAN Jack Quirk

HENNESSEY WRESTLERS EARN MULTIPLE PLACINGS AT KINGFISHER MEET

KINGFISHER — Hennessey wrestlers turned in a strong performance at a recent meet in Kingfisher, bringing home several top finishes against a competitive field.

Competing in non-heavyweight divisions, both girls and boys from Hennessey showcased determination and hard work on the mat. Two wrestlers claimed first-place finishes, while several others earned podium spots and solid placements.

Leading the way were Raiden Briley and Andrea Cox, each capturing first place in their respective divisions. Chloe Kelly, Emily Bryson, and Yaselin Rodriguez all finished third, adding to Hennessey's medal count. Rogan Choate and Savana Hopkins earned fourth-place finishes, while Dalton Scruggs rounded out the results with a fifth-place showing.

Coaches and supporters said the results reflect the time and effort these athletes continue to put in during practice and competition. The strong showing at Kingfisher highlights the depth of Hennessey's wrestling program and sets a positive tone for the remainder of the season.

OFFICE HELP DELIVERED

For more than 25 years, my work has been rooted in accounting and office support. It was never just about "numbers" for me; it is about finding solutions to problems, organizations, and confidently completing tasks that allow for peace of mind. After spending 15 years with the same company, downsizing brought that chapter of my life to a close and when that door closed, I had a choice to make. I could walk away from the work I knew so well, or I could take everything I'd learned and use it in a new way. That's how Office Offload was born.

Office Offload owner
Heather Lott

I'm Heather Lott, and I've lived in Hennessey my entire life. My husband, James Glenn, and I have been married for over 30 years, and we're proud to call this community home. We have one son, Tyler, who works in Enid for ONEOK, and his wife, Hannah, a night nurse at Bass Baptist Health Center. These days, some of our favorite moments are spent with our six-year-old grandchild, Emry. I started Office Offload with one simple goal: to help business owners breathe a little easier. I know how overwhelming paperwork can feel when you're trying to run a business, take care of customers, manage employees, and still have a life outside of work. Most people didn't start their business because they love bookkeeping, and that's okay. That's where I come in.

Through Office Offload, I help with day-to-day bookkeeping like accounts payable and receivable, bank and credit card reconciliations, payroll support, job costing, and month-end close. I also prepare monthly reports such as Profit and Loss statements, Balance Sheets, cash flow summaries, and job costing reports, tools that help business owners truly understand how their business is doing, not just guess.

I also assist with sales tax organization and reporting, helping track what's taxable, preparing reports, and keeping records in order for audits or year-end tax time. For those who feel buried under paperwork, there's no task too big or too small. I enjoy listening, asking questions, and finding ways to make things simpler and more manageable.

Beyond bookkeeping, I provide general office support, setting up or cleaning up QuickBooks files, organizing digital records, managing vendor and customer information, tracking insurance certificates, following up on accounts receivable, and preparing reports for lenders or CPAs. Sometimes it's about fixing a mess. Other times, it's about preventing one.

I offer both hourly services and monthly packages, giving business owners flexibility and dependable support without the expense of hiring a full-time office employee.

Business owners wear a lot of hats. My role is to take the office work off your plate so you can focus on what you do best and feel confident knowing the rest is handled.

With deep roots in Hennessey and a career built on trust, accuracy, and care, I'm grateful for the opportunity to serve businesses of all kinds through Office Offload. If you'd like to visit about how I can help, I'd love to talk. Heather Lott 405-853-1143 HLott12@yahoo.com

NEW YEAR REFLECTIONS

You've probably heard or even said the phrase "new year = new me" at the start of the year. But what if you don't need a New Year's resolution that will turn your world upside down? What if you don't need to completely reinvent yourself? Sometimes, even a small change can have a profound impact not only on yourself but also on the world around you.

Whatever you choose to do doesn't have to be revolutionary. It can be as simple as choosing kindness in any situation. Common courtesy is sadly becoming as rare as common sense, so strive to be the change you wish to see in the world.

We might disagree with Yoda, but we believe in "trying." Try something new. If you dislike it or it simply doesn't work, try something else. That might actually be Yoda's point! "Do or do not. There is no try." This doesn't mean that "trying" doesn't exist; it just emphasizes that you will either succeed or fail. As long as you accept failure as part of growth, you can keep moving forward, exploring new things or variations of what you've tried until you figure out what works best. Be willing to be uncomfortable. Think outside the box and give it a try.

- "If you always do what you've always done, you'll always get what you've always got." - Henry Ford
- "Insanity is doing the same thing over and over and expecting different results." - Possibly Einstein

We know some of you overachievers will still set lofty goals for this year, so remember: "A goal without a plan is just a wish" (Antoine de Saint-Exupéry). Break your goals down into smaller steps. Write out an action plan. Recognize that life can be chaotic. Prepare a backup plan. Embrace every obstacle with a "What is this trying to teach me?" attitude.

If you can't think of anything else to try this year, may we suggest focusing on a mental shift? Instead of asking, "Why is this happening to me?" try asking, "What is this trying to teach me?" or "What can I learn from this?"

Evolve. Enjoy the journey. Wishing you a blessed 2026!

Soccer, Anyone?

The new Hennessey soccer field is officially ready for action, so lace up those cleats. The original soccer field, first established by Hennessey Town Trustee Harold Shaw, has officially found a new home.

The original field was located on West Oklahoma Street at the intersection of Cemetery Road, on the former town dump site. That property was transferred last month by the Town of Hennessey to Kingfisher County District 2 and will now be used as a county equipment and inventory yard. More details on that transition will be coming in a future story.

The soccer field's new location is on West 2nd Street, right next to the new town Pavilion, managed by Discover Hennessey. The field is open to the public and ready for soccer, pickup games, and other community activities.

In short, same soccer spirit, better scenery, and a lot less history buried underneath the grass. Photos by AAN Jack Quirk

Cecil worked for Exxon Oil Company which took them to Hennessey in 1960, where Shirley taught school and coached basketball. Cecil retired from Exxon after 40 years of service and they moved to Stillwater in August 1992.

Cecil was fun-loving and enjoyed joking around with people, possibly even pulling a prank or two. He enjoyed gardening and then delivering produce to friends and neighbors. He also enjoyed woodworking, playing cards or dominoes with friends, hunting, and his dogs. He loved his family and never missed a game or event involving Shirley or his children.

He was an active member of the Hennessey and Stillwater First Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ). He was a 72-year member of the Tishomingo Lodge #91.

Cecil is survived by his children Russell Brownlee and wife Rovay of Wilburton, Sigrid Brownlee Krause and husband Greg of Tonkawa, and Brett Brownlee and wife Erin of Stillwater; six grandchildren: Caitlin Brownlee Parker and husband Josh and their daughter, Sadie, Conor Brownlee, Jessica Brownlee, Barrett Brownlee, Jace Brownlee and Cole Brownlee.

Cecil was preceded in death by his parents, a sister, two brothers and the love of his life, Shirley Mae, who passed away on December 9, 2023.

Memorial contributions may be made in his name to the 30/20 Club Scholarship Fund of First Christian Church with the funeral home serving as custodian.

Viewing will be Sunday from 9:00 am until 6:00 PM at Cordry-Gritz Funeral Home, Hennessey. Graveside services will be held on Monday, December 29, at 1:00 p.m. at the Hennessey Cemetery. Reception will follow in the Fellowship Hall of the Hennessey First Christian Church from 2:00 to 4:00 PM. Everyone is welcome.

DEMEN TIA SUPPORT GROUP LAUNCH

Hennessey Nursing and Rehab and The First Christian Church of Hennessey are starting a new dementia support group on January 22, 2026, at 2:00pm, at 500 E. 3rd St. Members of the community and surrounding areas affected by dementia are welcome to attend. If you are interested in learning more, please mark your calendar and plan to attend. Refreshments will be served. If you have any questions, please call Julie Torson, administrator at the care center (405-853-4390) or Rev. Ish Engle at the First Christian Church (405-853-4483).
